The Best Performing School in Brent

It is with delight and a great sense of pride that I write to inform you that St Joseph's is officially the best performing school in Brent!

The Sunday Times newspaper has collated Level 5 SATs data for the last three years in Reading, Writing and Mathematics. St Joseph's is positioned 112th in the tables, out of 24,372 primary and junior schools nationally, for Level 5 outcomes. For data relating to 2015, St Joseph's are placed 8th.

This is a tremendous achievement which is well-deserved first and foremost by the children who consistently studied well over time to attain outcomes to be very proud of. It is also a testament to the hard work of the teachers and staff who deliver high quality teaching; they also prepare the children for learning by reinforcing our high standards of behaviour and high expectations of attendance.

The excellent outcomes at the end of their KS2 learning leads to our children continuing their education in some of the best secondary schools in London and cultivates realistic aspirations they will attend the best universities in the UK.

Finally, I would like to thank parents for supporting their children and the whole school community. It is through our partnership, our Catholic ethos, and a shared desire for children to reach their full potential, which will ensure children at St Joseph's will continue to flourish as they prepare for the next step in their academic learning.

Yours sincerely

Mrs D Titus
Executive Headmistress
