

Every week in assembly staff or pupils will get an opportunity to recommend a book that they have read and explain why they are recommending it.

Week beginning 13/9/2021

My favourite book is 'Where the Wild Things Are' by Maurice Sendak.

I have always loved the thought-provoking, detailed illustrations in this book and they are what drew me to this story back when I was in primary school.

The book tells the story of Max, who disappears into a land of his own imagining, and when I read this story I feel that I am entering the same world.

Even though there are monsters and the story takes place on a dark island, this is a fun and light hearted story which taught me that just because characters might look scary does not always mean they are.

If you get a chance I absolutely recommend giving this book a read and having a good look at Sendak's beautiful illustrations.
