The Incredible Book Eating Boy

Oliver Jeffers

The Incredible Book Eating Boy is an exciting adventure about a little boy called Henry who loves books. However, he does not love books like you and I love books, not quite. He loves to eat books! It starts off with only a word, then a sentence and then an entire book. The more and more books he eats he begins to realise the more he is learning. Unfortunately, he soon realises that he can't keep eating his books as it is starting to make him feel quite unwell. One day, Henry picks up one of his books and this time he decides not to eat it but to... read it instead! Once he starts reading he can't stop. Henry reads everything he can get his hands on! What he soon realises is that he never needed to eat his books to learn new and exciting things he just needed to read them. This story shows us how each book can take us on an adventure of new and exciting things, just like Henry!
