

Title: 'Theres a boy in the girls' bathroom!'
Author: Louis Sachar

I enjoyed reading this emotional but really great book!

This book tells us that Bradley tells lies!

When the new boy called Jess joined Mrs Ebberts class, he sat next to Bradley. (nobody liked him because he's really mean!) He sat at the last row and last seat.

Later, Jess and Bradley made friends but Bradley told lies. He said that he went to White House (he hasn't) he likes to eat dog food and he said that his only friends are toy animals (well actually it is).

Nobody liked him except The new counselor (Carla Davis) and Jess.

Whenever he use to go to Carla Davis's office, she would encourage him to do better things, get more friends and a gold star. She would tell him to do his homework to get a gold star and be nice to other people so they could be nice to YOU.

Unfortunately, after all the sessions, Ms Davis had to leave Red Hill School and move to Kindergarten. But when

Bradley was told, he over-exaggerated. He ripped her special book that she had given him and screamed "I HATE YOU!" several of times! But to make him feel better she said she would meet him on Saturday and have fun. But there was no chance! Bradley was already really sad and depressed. Just to make ^{her} happy on Saturday, he went to the school and searched where Ms. Davis was. She was nowhere to be seen but instead there was a letter to say goodbye. The next day he wrote a letter to say goodbye, gave him his toy friend and lived happily ever after. The End

I LOVED THE BOOK!

Title: The Explorer
Author: Kathrine Rundell

This book is one of the greatest stories I've ever READ !!!

Once was a plane who flew gracefully with four children inside. But after a while, suddenly (and unfortunately) the four children and the one pilot crashed in the middle of the Amazon Rainforest!

The pilot died but the four children didn't but instead was stranded in the rainforest with animals and a little majority of good.

After a while of suffering in the rainforest, they found a cliff leading to a city. But the city was found ruined, bombed and looked as if men were fighting for a century!

After a little while, an explorer found them. The children begged him to take care of them. He hesitated and gazed and then finally agreed to take care of them.

He didn't tell them about the bombed city where he lived but instead taught how to hunt because they had to survive for the journey back home.

After three months of learning about the rainforest, they had to leave by a plane and say goodbye to the explorer.

When they were ^{how} wounded and badly hurt but able to survive.

Finally, twelve years later, they met at the Restaurant Ritz in London and ordered every cake on the menu and four hot chocolates!
The End :)
